Diagnosis:

- ▶ IHCP is a diagnosis of exclusion.
- ▶ generally the diagnosis is based on unexplained pruritus in pregnancy with raised bile acids or abnormal LFTs.
- ▶ The predominant symptom is pruritus(70%), especially of the palms and soles and is usually worse at night.
- ▶ Liver biopsy is usually not required for the diagnosis.
- ▶ recurs in subsequent pregnancies(60-70%).
- ▶ It can lead to chronic placental insufficiency which may result in anoxia, prematurity, perinatal death, foetal distress and stillbirth.
- ▶ Jaundice occurs in only 10% patients usually mild.
- ▶ Pruritus usually disappears within days after delivery.
- ▶ Biochemical abnormalities usually resolve within 2 -3 months.
