Summary report on "PHARMACOVIGILANCE" add-on course

30.03.2024

Pharmacovigilance is used to detect, assess, understand, and prevent the adverse effects of medications. Clinicians play a crucial role in preventing ADRs by recognizing, managing, and reporting adverse drug reactions. Safe and rational prescription of drugs require therapeutic reasoning and appropriate selection of drugs for each patient. Recognizing ADRs and differentiating them from other diseases or comorbidities is challenging, and requires the clinicians to have knowledge of the clinical pharmacological principles of ADRs, including their types, dose-relatedness, hypersensitivity reactions, time relationships, and risk factors.
